FORGED BY HAND. CRAFTED WITH PRIDE.

We opened our doors in 2008 with a few goals in mind:

- to make the best beer and food possible
- to utilize local business, artisans, farmers, and craftsmen whenever possible
- to never sacrifice quality for growth

Despite the challenges and obstacles along the way, we're proud of sticking to those principles. Going local isn't always easy, but it's worth the extra time, money, and effort. It's better for the community, the local economy, and in the end, all of us. Doing things the right way, rather than the quick way, or cheaper way, is how we operate. It's real. It's authentic. It's Old Forge Brewing Company.

BEER PAIRING

PAIRING YOUR MEAL with the perfect beer can lead to an amazing palette pleasing experience. But taste is subjective, so don't be afraid to experiment, and most of all... have fun!

Here are some basics to get you started.

- 1 Balance the Weights: Mirror the body of the beer with that of the food. Darker, more robust beers such as stouts and porters pair well with richer foods like roasted meats, barbeque or chili.
- 2 Consider the Hops: The more hop bitterness the beer has, the heartier or livelier the meal needs to be in order to hold its own.
- 3 Keep them Together: Keep sweet with sweet, and tart with tart. Try to keep your beer sweeter or tarter than the sweet or tart food on the plate. (This is a general rule, and there are always exceptions!)
- 4 Predicable Interactions: Characteristics of beer and food act in predictable ways. For example: if you personally like the contrast of sweet and bitter, take advantage of that when making your choices, and you'll probably enjoy the balance.
- 5 Consider the Season: The beers and foods of the season usually pair quite naturally.

Spent Grain Cycle: Our brewmaster takes the spent grain from the brewing process (after lautering) and brings it to Tworkoski Farms. Brian Tworkoski mixes the spent grain into his cattle feed as a high protein supplement. The cattle love it! Approximately every 3 weeks, Old Forge receives the beef for use in the brewpub kitchen. Local beer, local beef, local community coming together in a mutually beneficial relationship.
